HEPTINSTALL HAS AMBITIOUS PLANS FOR LORD VLADIVOSTOK

Lord Vladivostok confirmed his love of the Morphettville track with a win in the Gr.3 RA Lee Stakes (1600m) (Atkins Photography)

A gritty performance by Lord Vladivostok (NZ) (Tavistock) to land the Gr.3 RA Lee Stakes (1600m) at Morphettville on Saturday has given part-owner Tommy Heptinstall plenty to think about over the coming months.

The four-year-old Tavistock gelding showed plenty of fight in a tight finish to outmuscle Dr Drill for the win and provide Heptinstall with another highlight in his ownership scrapbook.

"I don't drink so the head is fine this morning (Sunday), but it surely was a great night," Heptinstall said.

"I think I've been to Adelaide twice now, once with Werther when he got beaten in the South Australia Derby (Gr.1, 2500m) and now with this guy and they have both been just magnificent days.

"They really know how to put on a superb event, so we had a great time and to win the race was really icing on a wonderful cake."

Lord Vladivostok did his early racing out of Andrew Campbell's Cambridge stable for Heptinstall and his fellow owners before being transferred to the Michael Hickmott operation at Murray Bridge last year following an unsuccessful effort in the Gr.1 New Zealand Derby (2400m).

The horse has thrived in the new environment and has now won four of his eight Australian starts with Heptinstall keen to see him tested against the big guns during the Melbourne Spring Carnival.

"Michael set him for this race and he went really well when finishing third fresh-up last time," he said.

"He went up to win but was probably just one run light so we knew second up he would be very hard to beat.

"I think the best thing about the win was that he was badly off under the conditions of the race, carrying 55kgs, with just a 79 rating and the youngest in the field, so to do what he did against some proven horses was remarkable.

"Really he is just a typical Tavistock who keeps getting better with age and next season he should be even better.

"We think he has what it takes to measure up to better company, so we will be looking at the options available to him in the spring and I would love to think he could go to Melbourne and hold his own there.

"You are racing the best of the best, so it is a real test, but I think he is up to it."

Just twenty minutes later Heptinstall's day got even better when lightly raced three-year-old Summaroca (NZ) (El Roca) picked up his third win from just six starts for trainers Trent Busuttin and Natalie Young with a victory over 1400m at Flemington.

"I managed to catch the race on the big screen at Morphettville and it was great thrill to get that win as well," he said.

"Trent and Natalie have really done a good job with this horse and the last 100m and past the line was his best part of the race, which augurs well for his future.

"It's a great feeling to win those Saturday races in the city as that's where the real money is.

"Whatever anyone tells you horses don't eat grass, they eat $100 notes, so this racing game can get expensive and wins like we had there makes the whole ownership experience a pretty good one."

While he experienced the highs that racing winners brings, Heptinstall didn't get it all his own way on Saturday as his plan to sneak the Andrew Campbell-trained Wertheimer (NZ) (Tavistock) into the Gr.1 Queensland Derby (2400m) came unstuck when the three-year-old Tavistock gelding finished unplaced over 2000m at Kembla Grange.

"We went to Kembla with a mission to try and make the Queensland Derby field with Wertheimer, but we failed with that one," he said.

"Andrew has a lot of faith in the horse and so do I, but we went with the plan and it didn't work so that's okay.

"I still think he needs time to mature and once he has had another break, he will come back a bigger and better version of himself.

"I've always had faith in the horse and I haven't lost that, so he is a work in progress well worth waiting for."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Time Test gets first winner in Europe

Saturday proved an excellent day for Little Avondale Stud-based shuttle stallion Time Test (Dubawi) as he produced his first winner when The King's Horses won over 1000m in Milan on Saturday.

The two-year-old colt was bred by Andrew Tinkler and fittingly won on the day of the London Gold Cup (2000m) at Newbury, a race his sire Dubawi landed in 2015.

Time Test retired to the National Stud for the 2018 breeding season after a racetrack career that saw him win six races including a brace of Group Two victories and was also a Group One placegetter in his native England and in North America.

He commenced shuttling to Masterton's Little Avondale Stud for the 2018 breeding season, with his first crop of yearlings sold at Karaka in 2021 where a colt out of O'Reilly mare Bella Carolina was knocked down to the $220,000 bid of Bloodstock agent Bruce Perry.

He will return to Little Avondale for the 2021 season where he will stand for a fee of $8,500 ex GST.

CAMBRIDGE JOCKEY CLUB READY TO HOST FIRST SYNTHETIC TRACK MEETING

A frenetic week for the Cambridge Jockey Club will culminate on Wednesday when the country's first official racemeeting run on a synthetic track will be hosted at their complex.

Construction of the Polytrack surface began in January 2020 and despite some hiccups caused by the COVID-19 pandemic lockdown two months later, the Club has been successfully operating jump-outs, trial meetings and morning trackwork on the surface since October.

With the final acid test of the surface and facilities less than 72 hours away, Cambridge Jockey Club chief executive Mark Fraser-Campin is excited about the transformation of the entire training complex as it readies to host the historic event.

"It's a cracking day here today (Sunday) and we're hoping to get the same weather on Wednesday," he said.

"We're flat out getting everything in shape for the day, including all of the things that need to be ready to host what we think could be a pretty decent crowd.

"We've got two large marquees set up for the public and industry participants and we're working on the last-minute items that can get overlooked at times, including the parking plans and traffic flow options.

"To be fair if you had been here two weeks ago you may have been a little worried, but all the new concrete has gone in, the jockey rooms have been upgraded and over the weekend we have put new linoleum in the kitchen, painted the floors and completed a number of tasks like that.

"I guess the hardest thing is knowing how many are going to turn up to a mid-week meeting although from what we have heard there could be a pretty big crowd if the weather plays its part."

While Fraser-Campin is making sure the creature comforts for all participants will be up to scratch, Wednesday's meeting will not mark the official opening of the track as a racing surface.

"We're treating Wednesday as a soft opening and we're looking at having an official function and the like at our racemeeting on July 28 where we will have our $40,000 races in play," he said.

"By that stage we will have five meetings under our belt and it makes sense to do it then to close out the season.

"That way we can host our dignitaries and the people who have helped make it all possible, in the appropriate manner."

With jumping trials on the Cambridge grass surface scheduled for Monday and a full day of trials on the Polytrack on Tuesday, the Club has more than just the racemeeting on its plate this week.

Cambridge Jockey Club Chief Executive, Mark Fraser-Campin (Trish Dunell)

"It's going to be a pretty full-on week with all the activity over those three days," Fraser-Campin said.

"The good thing is that we know the Polytrack will cop the workload as it has been doing that since we kicked off on it last year.

"We are likely to have around 170 horses at the trials and we have capacity fields for Wednesday, but our track manager Derek Collett has no concerns even if the weather packs it in.

"I think the beauty of it all is that the track has been designed as a winter racing option and what we have achieved over the spring and summer is only the prelude to the main objective.

"Once this first meeting is out of the way I think we will see the benefits over the coming months and even though we will learn a lot from the day, I'm confident that the Industry will embrace what the surface has to offer to us all." – NZ Racing Desk

PIKE BUOYED BY POSITIVE START TO QUEENSLAND CAMPAIGN

Cambridge trainer Tony Pike got his attack on the Queensland Winter carnival off to a good start with exciting three-year-old Not An Option (Not A Single Doubt) resuming in fine style from a lengthy layoff with a fast finishing fourth over 1350m at Doomben on Saturday.

A Group Two winner as a juvenile, the Not A Single Doubt colt had been set aside after suffering a cardiac arrhythmia issue when finishing last at Te Rapa back in October.

An eye-catching run for second behind stablemate Kali (NZ) (Darci Brahma) at the Taupo trials last month had Not An Option fitted for his raceday reappearance on Saturday, with Pike keen to see him perform to expectations as he looks forward to more ambitious targets in the coming weeks.

"We knew he would need the race on Saturday and I wasn't too sure how he would cop the slow track, but he went a terrific race," Pike said.

"He got left flat footed early on but his last 600m was super as he made up many lengths in the run home.

"He had a good blow afterwards, so I would think he will take plenty of improvement from the run.

"At this stage we are looking at the Fred Best Classic (Gr.3, 1400m) in a fortnight at Eagle Farm where he will definitely appreciate the roomier track.

"It looks like he will be running into a few guns there including Ayrton, who is unbeaten in Melbourne, but I think he will be competitive with the improved fitness on his side.

"If he could win that then a race like the Stradbroke (Gr.1, 1400m) is a possibility or we could look at the Winx Guineas (Gr.3, 1600m) later on.

"There are plenty of options for him before we send him for a break which is likely to be in Brisbane and then we might head to Melbourne in the spring."

Highly regarded two-year-old Tutukaka (NZ) (Tavistock) tried hard to give his trainer a winning bonus on Sunday when he finished an eye-catching second over 1400m at the Sunshine Coast.

The Tavistock half-brother to champion mare Melody Belle (NZ) (Commands) was sent forward by rider Michael Cahill from an outside barrier to sit beside pacemaker and eventual winner, Tiger Heart (Better Than Ready) during the race. Despite being dropped by that runner early in the home straight, he battled back strongly to finish a game second to the Tony Gollan-trained race favourite.

"We're happy with that as he is still very green," Pike said.

"Michael was really bullish when he came back in as he said he just got lost a little and flat-footed on the corner but was hitting the line strongly in the end.

"It was a bit of a repeat of his first start when he did something similar and Michael said he looks an ideal type for the JJ Atkins Stakes (Gr.1, 1600m) next month.

"That is what we have been thinking as well so we will press on as long as he pulls up well."

Pike did pick up a win on the local scene on Saturday with progressive three-year-old Dawn Parade (Dawn Approach) storming home out wide in the home straight to capture the last race at Rotorua.

"He's a talented horse who has been quite immature mentally which has held him back a little," he said.

"We rode him cold on Saturday and that suits at this stage as he has plenty of ability and he did the job nicely in the end.

"I think he gets through wet ground alright although it might have been more his talent that got him home on Saturday than a real liking for heavy going.

"If the tracks hold up okay for the next couple of weeks there is a race for him at Ellerslie at the end of the month or we might just tip him out and come back for the spring."

Move considered for injured Baby

Surprise Baby (NZ) (Shocking) may be on the move, but no decision has been made on where the injured stayer could be going.

The rising seven-year-old, who is currently sidelined with a hock injury, is listed on Racing Australia as being "transferred" and his co-owner John Fiteni said that a trainer had not been appointed for when the horse is ready to resume training.

"He's still in rehab," Fiteni said of his gelding. "No decision has been made on any of that.

"He is still four months away even before I even think about putting him to work. It's a long way off.

"It's a slow process. Like I said to the vets at Ballarat. I don't want to put a time on it, I don't want to do anything.

"I just want them to tell me when he's right."

Surprise Baby has not run since his 13th placing in last spring's Gr.1 Melbourne Cup (3200m) when one of the favourites. He had raced 14 times for Horsham trainer Paul Preusker with earnings of just under A$1 million.
